The SOVEREIGN, in the full Habit of the Order, his Train borne by Two Dukes Eldest Sons and the Master of the Robes.

The Band of Gentlemen Pensioners.

In this Manner proceeding to the Chapel, they entered at the South Door, passing down the South Isle, and up the North Isle, to the Chapter-House, the Poor Knights, Prebends, and Officers of Arms dividing on either Side for the Procession to pass; the Knights Elect retiring to their Chairs in the Isle behind the Altar, the Knights Companions and the Officers of the Order only entering into the Chapter-House with the Sovereign.

The Sovereign and Knights Companions being seated, Garter was commanded to introduce his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, who was received at the Chapter-house Door by the Two junior Knights Companions, and conducted to the Table, where the Surcoat, Girdle and Sword had been placed; and Garter presenting the Surcoat to the Two Senior Knights, they invested his Royal Highness therewith, the Chancellor reading the Admonition.

Then Garter presented the Girdle and Sword, which were put on.

His Royal Highness the Bishop of Osnabrugh, and his Royal Highness the Duke of Cumberland, were then severally introduced, and invested in like Manner.

Then the Proxy for his Serene Highness the Duke of Mecklenburgh was introduced, and afterwards the Proxy for his Serene Highness the Prince of Brunswick.

Garter then introduced the Earl of Albemarle, who was received at the Chapter-House Door by the two junior Knights Companions, and invested as before, the Register reading the Admonition.

Then the Duke of Marlborough, the Duke of Grafton, and Earl Gower, were severally introduced, and invested, as the Earl of Albemarle had been.

The Knights Elect continued in the Chapter-House while the Procession to the Chapel was made, and the Atchievements of the deceased Knights were offered, the Procession passing down to the West End of the Isle, and up the Middle Isle, into the Choir, in the following Order:

First the Poor Knights; who, coming into the Choir, made their Reverences all together, and placed themselves on each Side near the Altar.

The Prebends, making their Reverences in like Manner, went to their Seats under the Stalls.

The Officers of Arms, making their Reverences, stood next to the Poor Knights.

The Knights Companions, in the Order they walked, made their Reverences, and retired under their Banners.

The Register, Garter, and Black Rod, made their Reverences together, and stood before their Form.

The Chancellor did the like.

The Sovereign made one Reverence to the Altar, and, being in his Stall, repeated the same, the Train-bearers standing upon the Steps going up to the Stall; the Sword of State, with the Vice Chamberlain, on the Steps before, or under the Sovereign's Stall.

The

[Price Six-Pence.]

The Two Prebends were conducted to the Altar by the Verger.

Then Garter, with the uſual Reverences, taking up the Banner of the late Duke of Cumberland, and holding it up, two Officers of Arms immediately joined, and making their Reverences, repaired to his Royal Highneſs the Duke of Glouceſter and the Duke of Kingſton, being the two Senior Knights, who thereupon joining, and making their Reverences together, received the Banner from Garter, and, being preceded by the two Heralds, advanced to the firſt Step or Haut-Pas, where they repeated their Reverences, and, coming to the Rails, made one to the Altar; then kneeling, they delivered the Banner to the Prebends, who placed it upright at the South End of the Altar.

The Sword was then delivered by Garter, and offered in like Manner; and then the Helm and Creſt; the Knights retiring under their Banners.

The Atchievements of the late Duke of York were offered in the ſame Manner.

The Swords of the other deceaſed Knights, viz. the Duke of Dorſet, Duke of Newcaſtle, Duke of Bedford, Earl Granville, Earl of Winchelſea, Duke of Devonſhire, and Earl Waldegrave, were then offered together by the two next Knights in Rotation.

Garter then ſummoned the Knights to aſcend into their Stalls.

All the Knights being in their Stalls, the two Seniors were ſummoned down to inſtall the Prince of Wales; and they proceeded to the Chapter-houſe in the following Order:—Poor Knights—Officers of Arms—The Regiſter, Garter, and Black Rod, as before—The Chancellor — The two Knights. And from the Chapter-houſe his Royal Highneſs was conducted to the Chapel in the Order as follows, viz.

Poor Knights.

Officers of Arms.

Garter carrying, on a Cuſhion, the Mantle, Hood, Great Collar, and Book of Statutes, having on his Right Hand, the Regiſter and Black Rod on his Left.

The Chancellor.

The two Knights, having his Royal Highneſs between them, in his Surcoat and Sword, carrying his Cap and Feather in his Hand.

All entering the Choir with the uſual Reverences, Garter placed the Cuſhion upon the Deſk.

The two Knights conducted his Royal Highneſs directly into his Stall, (the Sovereign having diſpenſed with his taking the Oath, by Reaſon of his tender Years) and Garter delivering the Mantle to the Knights, they inveſted the Prince therewith, the Chancellor reading the Admonition.

Then Garter preſented the Hood to the Knights, and afterwards the Collar and George; and the Knights inveſted the Prince, the Chancellor reading the Admonition.

Garter next preſented the Statute-Book, which the Knights delivered to the Prince; and then placing the Cap and Feather on his Head, they ſeated him in his Stall; and the Prince, riſing up, made his double Reverences; and the Knights, after embracing and congratulating his Royal Highneſs, deſcended, made their Reverences, and went up into their Stalls, and the Officers to their Places.

His Royal Highneſs the Biſhop of Oſnabrugh was then introduced, and inſtalled by the two Senior Knights, in the ſame Manner as the Prince of Wales had been.

The two Senior Knights likewiſe inſtalled his Royal Highneſs the Duke of Cumberland, who being introduced with the uſual Reverences, they entred into the lower Stall, where the Regiſter adminiſtred the Oath to his Royal Highneſs, Black Rod holding the Book.

Then the Knights conducted his Royal Highneſs into the upper Stall, the Chancellor and Garter entring into the lower Stall, the Regiſter and Black Rod remaining in the Area.

Garter then preſented the Mantle, Hood, and Collar, with which his Royal Highneſs was inveſted, the Chancellor reading the Admonitions; and then the Statute-Book was delivered, and he was inſtalled with the ſame Ceremony as before-mentioned.

Then the two next Knights in Seniority were ſummoned to inſtal Sir Charles Frederick, the Proxy for his Serene Highneſs the Duke of Mecklenburgh, who was conducted into the lower Stall, where the Oath was adminiſtred to him under the Reſervations ſtipulated: He was then conducted into the upper Stall, and the Mantle being preſented by Garter, the Knights put it over his Arm ſo that the Garter thereon appeared: He was then ſeated in the Stall as the Knights had been; and, during the reſt of the Ceremony, ſtood up, or leaned on the Cuſhion, a Proxy not being allowed to ſit in the Stall.

Sir John Griffin Griffin, the Proxy for his Serene Highneſs the Prince of Brunſwick, was then inſtalled in the ſame Manner.

The Earl of Albemarle was then brought in and inſtalled in the ſame Manner as the Duke of Cumberland, except the Attendance of the Chancellor, the Regiſter pronouncing the Admonition.

In like Manner the Duke of Marlborough, the Duke of Grafton, and Earl Gower, were ſeverally introduced and inſtalled.

Divine Service then began; and at the Words of the Offertory, Let your Light ſo ſhine; the Organs playing, the Officers of the Wardrobe ſpread a Carpet on the Steps before the Altar, and Black Rod making his Obeiſances, went up to the Rails of the Altar on the Right Side, where he received from the Yeoman of the Wardrobe, a rich Carpet and Cuſhion, which, with the Aſſiſtance of the Yeoman, he laid down for the Sovereign to kneel upon.

In the mean Time Garter ſummoned the Knights from their Stalls, and being all under their Banners,

The Sovereign, making one Reverence to the Altar, deſcended from His Stall; and then, making another Reverence, proceeded to the Offering in the following Order:

Garter and the Regiſter.

The Chancellor.

The Vice Chamberlain, and the Sword of State.

The SOVEREIGN, his Train borne as before.

As the Proceſſion paſſed, the Duke of Kingſton (being the Senior Knight not of the Royal Family) making his Reverence, placed himſelf a little behind His Majeſty on the Right Side, and coming againſt the Stall of the Earl of Hertford, Lord Chamberlain, he came from under his Banner, going a little behind the Sovereign on the Left Side. The Sovereign coming to the Rails of the Altar, Black Rod delivered the Offering on his Knee to the Duke of Kingſton, who preſented it to the Sovereign: And His Majeſty taking off His Cap, and kneeling, put the Offering into the Baſon; then riſing, His Majeſty made His Reverence to the Altar, another in the Middle of the Choir, (all the Atttendants turning as His Majeſty did, and making their Reverences at the ſame Time) and, being in His Stall, another; the Lord Chamberlain and the Knight who delivered the Offering, retiring under their Banners, when they came oppoſite to them.

During

During the Sovereign's Return, the Officers of the Wardrobe removed the Carpet and Cuſhion, whereon His Majeſty had kneeled, leaving the firſt Carpet and two Cuſhions for the Knights, and Black Rod returned to his Place.

All the Knights thus ſtanding under their Banners, two Officers of Arms joined, with uſual Reverences, and went to his Royal Highneſs the Prince of Wales, who thereupon making his Reverences in the Middle of the Choir, was conducted to the Altar, and made his Offering; and, returning in the ſame Order, went into his Stall, where, making his Reverence, he ſat down.

Then the next Knight or Knights in Seniority, being Companions, offered in like Manner; and ſo on till all the Knights and Proxies had offered.

Divine Service went on; and being ended,

Garter ſummoned the Knights under their Banners, Juniors firſt; which done, the Poor Knights made their Reverences, and went out of the Choir; then the Prebends, then the Officers of Arms, then the Knights, then the Officers of the Order, then the Sword of State, and the Sovereign as before; thus proceeding to the Great Weſt Door of the Chapel, and up the South Iſle, out at the South Door, to the Upper Caſtle; but the Proxies went in the Proceſſion no farther than the South Door, where the Mantles were delivered to the Sexton.

The Drums and Trumpets halted at the Foot of the Stairs, the Poor Knights fell off on either Side in the Guard Chamber, the Officers of Arms in the Preſence Chamber; the Knights Companions divided on either Side above them; the Sovereign, having the Officers before him, went under the State, where he ſaluted the Knights by pulling off his Cap and Feather, and then retired till Dinner-Time.

When the firſt Service was placed on the Table, a Proceſſion was made to St. George's Hall, viz. The Officers of Arms,—the Knights in their Order,—the Officers of the Order,—the SOVEREIGN.

The Officers of Arms divided at the lower End of the Hall, the Knights above them, the Seniors uppermoſt, taking off their Caps and Feathers as the Sovereign paſſed; the Officers of the Order proceeding before the Sovereign to the Haut-Pas, and then going behind the Knights.

The Sovereign being under his State, ſaluted the Knights; and their Royal Highneſſes aſcending the Haut-Pas, went to the Ends of the Table, the Prince of Wales and the Biſhop of Oſnabrugh on His Majeſty's Right Hand, and the Duke of Glouceſter and Duke of Cumberland on his Left.

Grace being ſaid by the Chancellor, the Sovereign ſat down, and the Knights put on their Caps, and went to their Places at the Table. The two Proxies ſitting below the Knights.

Towards the latter End of the Firſt Courſe, a Cup being brought to the Sovereign by the Cup-Bearer, His Majeſty commanded Garter to ſignify to the Knights, that he drank to them. Whereupon the Knights ſtanding up uncovered, all together pledged the Sovereign, the Trumpets ſounding; and then ſat down, and put on their Caps.

The Second Courſe was then brought in with the uſual Ceremony.

Immediately after Garter, attended by all the Officers of Arms, advanced from the lower End of the Hall, with the uſual Reverences, to the Haut Pas, and aſcending the loweſt Step, and crying Largeſs thrice, proclaimed the Sovereign's Style in Latin, French and Engliſh.

Garter then bowing to the Prince of Wales, His Royal Highneſs ſtood up, taking off his Cap and Feather; and Garter, crying Largeſs twice, proclaimed his Style in Engliſh.

In like Manner Garter proclaimed the Styles of his Royal Highneſs the Biſhop of Oſnabrugh, and his Royal Highneſs the Duke of Cumberland.

The Officers of Arms then retired backwards with the uſual Reverences, till they came oppoſite to the Earl of Albemarle; who ſtanding up uncovered, Garter with one Largeſs proclaimed his Style in Engliſh; and then the Styles of the Duke of Marlborough, the Duke of Grafton, and Earl Gower.

The Banquet was afterwards brought to the Sovereign's Table.

Dinner being ended, the Knights placed themſelves on either Side at the upper End of the Hall; and Grace being ſaid by the Chancellor, and the Sovereign having waſhed, the Knights all together made their Reverences to His Majeſty, who put off his Cap and re-ſaluted them.

Then the Knights and Officers returned to the Preſence Chamber before the Sovereign, in the ſame Order they came from thence.

Windſor-Caſtle, July 26.

This Afternoon, at One o'Clock, Their Majeſties left this Place to return to Richmond; their Royal Highneſſes the Prince of Wales, the Biſhop of Oſnabrugh, Prince William, and the Princeſs Royal, having ſet out for Kew in the Morning.

AT the Court at St. James's, the 19th Day of July, 1771,

PRESENT,

The KING's moſt Excellent Majeſty in Council.

HIS Majeſty in Council was this Day pleaſed to order, that the Parliament, which ſtands prorogued to Tueſday the 23d Day of this Inſtant July, ſhould be further prorogued to Tueſday the 1ſt Day of October next.

Hanau, July 12. Her Royal Highneſs the Hereditary Princeſs of Heſſe Caſſel, was this Day happily delivered of a Princeſs. Her Royal Highneſs and the young Princeſs are as well as can be expected.

Berlin, July 13. A few Days ago the King of Pruſſia removed from the Old to the New Palace of Sans Souci, where his Majeſty continues in perfect Health.

Hamburgh, July 19. This City is at preſent expoſed to a melancholy Scene of Diſtreſs. All the beautiful and rich Vale from hence to Lauenburgh is overflowed by an Inundation of the Elbe. The Water already comes into one of the Gates of the City; and the Inhabitants are alarmed, leſt it ſhould break the Dam, which has been ſtrengthened by ſeveral thouſand Sacks of Sand that ſeparate it from the Alſter; were it to overflow, the greateſt Part of the City would be under Water, and the Damage to the Houſes and Warehouſes would be very great. The Waters having riſen, from the 17th to Yeſterday Morning, Fifteen Inches, The Senate held an Extraordinary Aſſembly, which laſted till Four o'Clock in the Afternoon, to conſider of the Means of preventing this Miſchief; and came to the Reſolution of making Three Slopes in the great Dyke of the Elbe, that the Waters may empty themſelves into that River. The Suburbs, which extend Two Engliſh Miles on that Side, with fine Country Houſes and Gardens, are all under Water, which is of ſuch a Height, that nothing is to be ſeen but the Tops of the Trees; and the great Road, which leads to Berlin, is impaſſable. We are by this deprived of all the Fruits and Vegetables, as well as Forage for the Horſes and Cattle, with which this City uſed to be ſupplied from thence: And the Loſs of the rich Crops of Corn, by which the People expected to be relieved from the Dearneſs of it, is a melancholy Event, of which bad Conſequences cannot but be apprehended. The Damage the City has already ſuſtained, is computed at 200,000l. Sterling. The Price of all Kinds of Proviſion is daily increaſing; and a Thouſand Pounds Weight of Hay, which uſed to be ſold from 14 to 16 Shillings, is not to be had at preſent for leſs than 31. Sterling. A Publick Faſt is ordered on Sunday the 28th Inſtant, on Account of this Calamity.

St. James's, July 27.

The King has been pleaſed to grant unto Thomas Whateley, Eſq; the Office or Offices of Keeper of His Majeſty's Private Roads, Gates, and Bridges, in the room of Edward Hatton, Eſq; deceaſed.
